

Fate Is a Scavenger

Anders Jørgen Mogensen & Simon
Bukhave
676-012

2

When I saw Maria for the first time, we were children

We no longer are.

Do you really think we'll be together always?

Yes, I think so. Could you think otherwise?

No, I guess you couldn't.

3

Do you believe in fate?

No. Do you?

Yes, I think it brought us together.

If fate were an animal, what animal would it be?

4

A fox, I think. A fox sneaking around in the background.

So fate is a scavenger?

Yes. Fate is a scavenger.

5

Just park it here.

6

Will he pass tomorrow?

If fate wills it so.

7

I passed.

I guess fate willed it.

8

I want to see the North Sea.

Why?

I like the dunes.

They keep moving.

9

Wait here.

10

Will you marry me?

I thought marriage was like poison.

11

Poison is what you take if you can't be
with the person you love.

Why don't we drive out into the night?

18

If you knew what I knew,

19

you would know

we will always forever belong to each other.

20

An escape is only an escape if we run
from something,
and we're not.

We're running towards the goal.

21

Fate has been sneaking around us all along.

Fate is what is left.

22

Fate is a scavenger.

Bios: For ten years Simon Bukhave (1978)
has swum around Danish pictorial narratives as artist and illustrator. He has previously published the comics Ghost and
All That I Hold in My Hand. Anders Jørgen Mogensen (1980) is a singer and lyricist in KLoAK and Alle med balloner og terrasser.

Translation: Steffen Rayburn-Maarup